PUMPKIN SHOW ROMPS INTO LAST DAY

Baby Parade One of Best In Pumpkin Show History

About 200 moppets braved the disagreeable weather yesterday to make Friday's baby parade one of the best in the history of Pumpkin Show.

Muffs, mittens, baby buntings and snow suits were the order of the day. And the babies were warm and snug. About half a minute after the parade had started its line of march at least one fourth of the contestants had nodding heads and succumbed to sleep. After all it was nap time for most of them.

Costume outfits and decorated small floats and strollers added to the color of the parade. One small float entered by actual cousins captured the eye of spectators.

It represented the city slicker visiting his country cousin at pumpkin time.

The antics of a clown entered in the best costume outfit amused on-lookers all along the line of March.

THE CHILD STUDY CLUB with Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick as director of the baby parade is to be commended on the rapidity with which the judging was accomplished.

There were two judging rings and six judges to speed up the process.

Judges were Phyllis Fristoe, director of education at Children's Hospital, Al Berger, and Jimmy Crum, Sports Director of WLWC, all of Columbus, and Mrs. William B. Brown, Mrs. Robert Litter and Miss Mary Ann Schlegel, all of Chillicothe.

The judges had remarks. One said—"A most beautiful crop of babies and we know beautiful babies when we see them." Another said "A most unenviable task! It was most difficult because they were all so darling." The results of the baby parade are as follows:

Weather Cuts Total Crowd Some 30,000

Big Final-Day Program Features Winner's Parade

The 1957 Circleville Pumpkin Show romped into its last day today with a thrill-filled day-long program attracting the usual huge crowds.

The weather forecast for today calls for clearing weather but cold. Tomorrow is to be fair and a little warmer.

Robert Colville, Pumpkin Show director, estimated today's crowd will be around 45,000. That would bring the total Pumpkin Show attendance to about 178,000 — about 30,000 short of last year's record-breaking 205,000.

He blamed the weather on the decrease. With rain hampering activities somewhat Wednesday and Thursday, the attendance was about 20,000 short at that time. Yesterday's crowd estimate was 48,000—about average for a Friday program.

SET FOR today is a baton twirling contest, judo exhibition, pumpkin pie eating contest, and hog calling contest, along with a parade of winners at 8 p. m. tonight—the final parade of the four-day event.

The U. S. Army Field Band was to play twice to end its four-day stand here at 4 p. m. and at 9:30 p. m. The Army musicians have kept the crowd spellbound during all its concerts, even in the face of cold, drizzling weather.

Top feature yesterday was the Industrial-Merchants Parade at 8 p. m. last night. The hour-long parade had nearly 100 units and many interesting commercial floats. The five-deep crowd which lined the parade route thoroughly enjoyed the pageantry and color.

Riding in the parade was William Saxbe, attorney general of Ohio, the only high-ranking state official to visit the Pumpkin Show this year.

Yesterday afternoon's Baby Parade drew almost 100 entrants. The youngsters, acting like themselves, slept, cried and chortled throughout the festivities, which included a tough judging job at the finish.

Brucker Says Dulles Right

Khrushchev Warned U. S. Doesn't Scare

YORKTOWN, Va. (AP)—Secretary of the Army Brucker said today Secretary of State Dulles "has the support of every right-thinking American when he warns Khrushchev that America doesn't scare easily."

The Army chief said the Communist party boss has started "a clever campaign of exploitation to get all the propaganda value out of the Russian satellite."

Brucker added that Khrushchev "has threatened Turkey and is trying to bully our allies by his claims of military might."

But, the Army secretary said, "The United States intends to stand with its allies in seeing to it that the Kremlin keeps the peace."

Moscow radio charged Friday night that Dulles is blocking world peace agreements and "attempts to make it a universal law that wars must occur almost every two years or so."

A BROADCAST beamed at North America said Dulles should have no reason to be offended by a cartoon in a Soviet magazine depicting him chopping down the tree of peace.

"Dulles... refuses to recognize the possibility of reaching agreement with the Soviet Union," commentator Nikolai Andreyev said. He quoted Dulles as saying that no agreement with Russia is possible because no accord of minds can be achieved, adding:

"It is quite true there can never be an accord of minds between us and Mr. Dulles, though talks might go on forever."

The commentator said "an agreement can still be concluded not to supply arms to the Middle East and to condemn the use of force." But Dulles "blocks it."

THROW OF 48,000 — This is the corner of Court and Main Sts. last night as 48,000 persons jammed Circleville for the third night of the 1957 Pumpkin Show. The Sheriff's car is seen trying to move the mob back to allow passage of the Industrial-Merchants parade.

Assembly Plans Full Airing of Syrian Charges

America To Outline Russia's Role in Fomenting Trouble

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and Turkey marshaled their forces today to parry, in a U. N. General Assembly debate, Soviet-Syrian charges of aggressive plans in the Middle East.

The 82-nation assembly voted 66-0 to take up Syria's complaint that Turkey menaces her security. High point of the debate, however, is expected to be Russia's companion charge that the United States is goading Turkey into an invasion of Syria.

Both the United States and Turkey have denied repeated accusations, but they said they would welcome a full airing of the charges. Debate is expected to begin Tuesday.

As the U. N. agreed Friday to look into the crisis, the Soviet Union renewed a warning that it would go to Syria's aid in case of attack.

A statement issued in Moscow also charged Turkey planned to attack along 180 miles of Syria's northern border "with the support of the U. S. 6th Fleet." It said Britain had consented to a top-secret war plan.

TURKEY'S Ambassador Syfalah Esin charged in a U. N. Steering Committee debate that Russia was trying to intimidate his country by creating a fictitious situation.

Turkey, he declared, already has assured both Syria and Russia that she does not have aggressive designs against her Arab neighbor.

The United States, which has been consulting with other delegations since the Syrian-Russian charges came in, is working on proposals for the debate. They would highlight Russia's role in the Middle East.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge expressed confidence the discussion would "show not only the absurdity of the charges against the United States and Turkey, but will also reveal the true source of tension in the entire area."

Lester B. Pearson, former foreign minister of Canada, suggested in Ottawa that the U. N. Emergency Force stationed on the Egyptian-Israeli border to prevent aggression be used along the Syrian-Turkish frontier, Canada and Peru were reported to have further proposals to make.

Syria accompanied her complaint with a memorandum proposing that the assembly set up a U. N. inquiry commission to investigate the border situation.

Sidelights along the Midway Pumpkin Show Pickin's

One of the hardest people to fool at the Pumpkin Show is Jim Deawester who promises to give a prize if he can't guess your weight within three pounds. In his 12th year at the Pumpkin Show, Jim can guess correctly "about 70 per cent of the time when I'm really trying." Women are harder to guess than men according to Jim but he often under-guesses with them on purpose. Toughest estimate this year was a 330 pound man, Jim guessed 310.

Mack Parrett, who for 18 years was Pumpkin Show secretary, rode in the afternoon Baby Parade as guest of Mayor Robert E. Hedges. It was his first parade of the 1957 Pumpkin Show.

Mary Ann Edstrom, Circleville High drum major, said she was sad yesterday afternoon. It was the last Pumpkin Show parade for the seniors in the Tiger band. She reported that marching in five straight parades this year was really not tiring. "You recover between parades", she said.

Little Miss Pumpkin Show, Susan Rogers, missed both parades yesterday. She was in Akron. Of the six parades to date she missed three.

The helicopter, which is based at Rader Field along N.J. Pickaway St., made its initial 1957 appearance over the Pumpkin Show at about 1 p. m. yesterday.

The Treblemakers, barbershop quartet which entertained here last night, was winner of the Columbus District quartet contest. The four young men are to be in Lima tonight for the Johnny Appleseed Regional sing-off.

Miss Pumpkin Show attendant Joy Trone, Ashville, was back in the parade again last night after a siege of the flu. She made a trip down the midway last night, shepherded by photographers.

Holly Jean Bach, Little Miss Pumpkin Show attendant, dropped out of the parades for the first time last night — that's right, flu. Sweet little Cathy Steel was the only one on that huge float.

Beaver Studio, which has taken all Pumpkin Show photos used in The Herald, posted a 38 by 42-inch photo of the show's queens on the information stand at Court and Main Sts. The queens look even better in an enlargement.

3 Legal Opinions Given on School District Mergers

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Saxbe has ruled on various questions relating to school district consolidations as follows:

1. When the State Board of Education proposes a consolidation of school districts, all electors in the districts whose boundaries may be altered may vote on the proposal.

2. In an election to transfer part of a district, all electors in the district to be transferred are eligible to vote on the question. The transfer cannot be made by the State Board, however, without approval of the district board of education to which the transfer is to be made.

3. In creating a new school district which has been approved by voters, the State Board may use reasonable discretion in setting the date for the new district to go into effect.

U.S. Satellite Rocket Tests Put Off Twice

Navy's 'Vanguard' Not Fired; Sputnik Still Making Rounds

WASHINGTON (AP)—A test of the Navy's Vanguard rocket, the powerhouse planned to propel an American satellite into space, apparently was put off twice Friday.

The scheduled firing at Cape Canaveral, Fla., was to have been a test of the Vanguard's first stage engine. There was no explanation of why the test wasn't held.

A rocket believed to be an Army Jupiter lit up the launching area Friday night in an apparent flame out that failed to lift it off the ground.

Information officers at nearby Patrick Air Force Base were as mute as the monster rockets about developments.

Meanwhile, Russia's Sputnik began its third week of orbiting the earth at about 18,000 miles an hour. New sightings of the satellite were reported in Wisconsin.

Newsmen watching the Florida test area through binoculars Friday said towers and cranes twice were moved up to the missile when withdrawn—the second time when a rain squall swept the area.

There was no word when the Vanguard test might be rescheduled. Two preliminary tests of Vanguard rocket stages, held previously, have been described officially as successful.

THE FIRST fully instrumented satellite is scheduled to be fired into its orbit next March.

Eight Milwaukee Astronomical Society observers said they sighted Sputnik Friday. Edward A. Halbach, director of the society's observatory, said the sightings appeared to be almost certain.

French President Still Seeks Premier

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty turned to the center parties today for a possible premier after conservative Antoine Pinay failed to win national assembly approval to head the country's 24th postwar government.

Pinay, leader of the independents and peasants, won only 197 votes to 248 against him—mostly Socialists and Communists. There were many abstentions.

The Socialists killed Pinay's hopes by opposing him when he demanded special powers for a year to deal with economic and financial problems and indicated he might cut social services.

Tax Receipts Show Surge

Sales Now Higher Than during '56

Sales tax receipts in Pickaway County totaled $8,331.61 for the week ending October 5, according to a report released today by State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy.

The figure was the second highest weekly total of the fiscal year which began July 1. The total was 29 per cent higher than the preceding week of this year and 84 per cent above collections for the corresponding week of 1956.

Local sales tax receipts for the first 14 weeks of the fiscal year are now three per cent above collections for the same period of last year.

Receipts for the sale of the prepaid tax stamps in the entire state totaled $4.6 million for the October 5 week, an increase of 16 per cent over the same week of last year.

County Signs Pact To Care For Prisoners

The Pickaway County Commissioners this week signed an agreement with the village of South Bloomfield for the care and maintenance of prisoners convicted under South Bloomfield ordinances.

Under the agreement village prisoners will be housed in the county jail. South Bloomfield will pay to the county $2 a day per prisoner for the cost of meals. Cost of meals will be prorated at the rate of 70 cents per meal after the first day if the prisoner is not confined for a complete day.

Any expense incurred by the county in habeas corpus proceedings for or against a village prisoner will be paid for by South Bloomfield as well as any expense of special medical treatment in the event of a village prisoner's injury or illness.

The agreement will run until October 1, 1962.

IN OTHER ACTION this week, the commissioners transferred $15,000 in the auto license fund from unappropriated auto license fees to auto license material, and $7,000 from unappropriated auto license fees to auto license other expense.

Transfers of $200 each were made from the county commissioners fund to the Memorial Hall fund and the clerk of courts fund. A transfer of $200 was made from the Children's home fund to the children's home repairs fund.

servatory official, Dr. Allan Hynek, Friday proposed establishment of a cabinet post to create a liaison between the government and scientists.

"I suggest," he said, "a cabinet post, such as a secretary of science who would serve in an advisory capacity as a liaison between the government and science."

"It would be somebody with the stature of Dr. Vannevar Bush," Bush, an internationally known scientist, headed the huge government research program during World War II.

Hynek also said the United States could land a man on the moon in five years, if it were a matter of national survival.

Meanwhile, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Friday night that the Soviet satellite points up what he termed "the astounding failure of the Republican administration to maintain leadership for our country in scientific advancement."

Butler said President Eisenhower has displayed "appalling" indifference toward the Soviet satellite launching.

"It is time that Mr. Eisenhower and his administration face up to the realities," Butler added.

With a rifle Daniel shot his father, sleeping on a couch, then his mother, an 8-year-old brother and an 11-year-old sister last March 31. He also shot another sister, but she recovered.

Daniel said he was angry because his father wouldn't let him drive the family car after Sunday school and because his mother threw away his hunting knife.

New Defense Boss Demands No Missile Plan Stalling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy has served notice he will stand for no delays in planned development of long range ballistic missiles.

He also indicated Friday he will accept no excuses that bottlenecks or lack of help are impeding progress in this vital defense field.

The new Pentagon boss, who has been on the job less than two weeks, made known his position in a memorandum to the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

A number of Congress members of both parties have voiced concern over the recent launching of a Russian earth satellite before the United States could get one aloft. Some of them have said this, coupled with Russia's claimed success in testing an intercontinental missile, indicates the United States has fallen dangerously behind the Soviets.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services

Committee, said in Blackshear, Ga., he planned to fly here today to direct a committee investigation of the nation's missile and satellite programs.

In his memo, McElroy said he was "greatly encouraged by the progress" he said is being made at missile centers he visited. He said that during these visits, he had watched firings of both operational and test weapons "which in general met or exceeded their design specifications."

He said it appeared the missile program represents "the best balance of technical knowledge, trained manpower and test installations that we can make it this time."

But McElroy stressed the "great importance to our national security of maintaining these programs on schedule."

The individual service heads were ordered to send weekly progress reports to William Holaday,

McElroy's assistant in charge of missile matters, and to mark copies of such reports "for my personal attention."

The defense chief instructed the service secretaries to inform him directly if they need any help on scientific problems that might be hindering progress in ballistic missiles development.

At one point in his memo, McElroy seemed to be taking note of charges by some members of Congress and others that development of American intercontinental missiles has been slowed by inter-service rivalries.

He told the service heads to inform his guided missiles aides immediately of any assistance which any other service, the Defense Department or any government agency can provide "which will insure the maintenance of our schedules."

McElroy said that as far as he knows, all requests for permission to pay overtime in the missile program had been approved.

Feminine Royalty Sometimes Late Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—It seems the feminine commoner's right to be late now and then extends to feminine royalty too.

Queen Elizabeth, due at the National Gallery of Art at 9:55 a.m. for the first item of Friday's schedule on her state visit, showed up at 10:03.

Her press representative, Cmdr. R. Colville, was asked about it.

"Well," said Colville, "she wasn't ready. It's a woman's prerogative."

IN HARMONY

The house lights dimmed, the director raised his baton, and the music of Brahms flooded the auditorium. Suddenly I was lifted into a world of sheer beauty and harmony. When the last notes of the symphony died away spontaneous applause greeted the director and the musicians.

What a thrill it would be to play in a great orchestra, I thought. Each instrument must be perfectly in tune, but until they play together there can never be the harmony or the volume of a symphony.

That's the way it is with life. We may strive to find joy and beauty alone. But only when we tune our lives with our Creator do we discover the abundant life.

Then united with fellow Christians in the Church, with Jesus Christ the Leader, we discover beauty and harmony, not only in this life but for all eternity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

All-Out Moon Effort Needed

Russia has now definitely stolen the scene with its earth satellite, has invented the atom and hydrogen bombs more rapidly than anyone had believed possible, has developed bombers whose range and efficiency startled the Western world and may have launched the first intercontinental ballistic missile.

The latest shocker should drive away the last vestige of complacency about this country's technological achievements as well as convictions that "the Russians just cannot do these things well."

Best hope now is that while Russian inventors may equal America's, Russian industry may not be able to duplicate U. S. production ability. But at the rate the Soviet's are going, no one can be sure of that now.

Russia's achievement in putting into space the first artificial earth satellite would have been unsettling enough if it had been expected. The fact that it came as a surprise made it even more so.

American scientists, aware that this country's earth satellite program was not going well, were persuaded that the Russians were having worse luck. The report was that Russian satellites were not even in the blueprint stage.

It is no answer to point out that the communists have thrown all of the material and mental resources of their vast empire into developing these technological gadgets while the West has had no such all-out drive.

It is evident now that the Russians are ahead of the free world in the science and art of rocketry. And far ahead, U. S. researchers have voiced frank astonishment at the reported size and weight of the Soviet's satellite, which is confirmation that they are in no position to match them at this time.

Let there be no doubt, then, that this man-made moon now streaking through the atmosphere far above our planet represents a great scientific achievement. The Russians scored the breakthrough that made it possible for earth-bound man to begin to think confidently of exploring outer space.

It would be foolhardy in the extreme to attempt to belittle their accomplishment in the slightest.

The way they did it, maintaining secrecy until the last moment even though they are presumably cooperating in the International Geophysical Year, ought to be criticized. But that is the more reason for recognizing that the mistake of underestimating them must not be made again.

This is a time to resolve not to be left behind in the future in the drive for new scientific knowledge.

Little Interest in Stocks

One of the puzzling aspects of the current scene is lack of public interest in the stock market. What makes this inexplicable is the fact that a much larger percentage of the population than ever owns stocks.

But the stock market can go up, or it can go down, and few persons seem concerned, audibly at any rate. Told that the stock market has done so-and-so, their reply is likely to be, "Yeah—what is the weather forecast for tomorrow."

It was not always thus. Thirty years ago a large segment of the population was engaged in frenzied stock market speculation. That, it was widely held, was the way to fortune. Most of the speculation was based on borrowed money.

That, probably, accounts for the difference in the public's attitude toward the market then and now. Today more persons than ever own stocks, but few speculate in them.

Opportunity for Crackpots

By George Sokolsky

Every state has its problems and its peculiarities. The State of New York is required by its constitution to ask its voters every 20 years whether they wish to hold a constitutional convention. If the voters so decide, there is an expensive jamboree in the course of which a host of politicians get $7,500 each for a short period of back-scratching plus expenses, some of which is untaxed, and all of which is grist to the mill for those who cannot earn their money in any better way.

Already Nelson Rockefeller, who is busying himself with New York affairs, conducted public hearings dealing with this subject, hearings which produced 633 pages of statements.

Little of this material would indicate that a new constitution needs to replace the old one which, while not a noble document, is not likely to be worse than will be produced by another convention. After all, the Constitution of the United States has lasted 170 years and the original seems to stand up, although the Supreme Court goes out of its way to change it legislatively.

Just to show how queer these things can be, in 1858, the legislature of New York State submitted to the voters the question of abolishing the executive and legislative departments of government and vesting such powers in the president, vice president and directors of the New York Central Railroad Company. Now here is the astounding fact: the question was defeated by the narrow margin of 6,360 votes, which just goes to show that voters sometimes will vote for anything.

Actually, there is no real need for such a convention in the near future and surely a constitution ought to last for more than 20 years. One reason that some want this convention, apart from the $7,500 plus it will bring each delegate, is to pass a reapportionment, which is not particularly necessary because there has been no enormous shift in population. Admittedly, the Democrats would benefit by gerrymandering, but they have been winning elections anyhow.

Also, there is a desire on the part of some of those who are influential in New York City affairs to extend the size of the city, taking in more territory. Unfortunately, New York City is so large now that it can hardly be managed. It is inadequately policed as its police commissioner, Stephen P. Kennedy, has often stated; its streets are filthy; it is loaded down with welfare activities beyond its capacity to handle them.

What advantage it will be for those who escaped from New York to be returned captive to the city by constitutional provisions, it is hard to know, but for a politician anything is worth a try. Thus far there has been no movement in Nassau or Westchester Counties to attach all or any part of them to New York City.

Of course, the present state constitution is too long. It has grown from 6,600 words in 1777 to about 50,000 words today. Obviously, there is no telling how much longer and how much more confused it will become after another convention at

"How many times do I have to tell you — don't swing so high?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BUS was bumping along a southern road. In one seat a wispy old man sat, holding a bunch of beautiful fall flowers. Across the aisle was a young girl whose eyes came back again and again to the flowers. The time came for him to get off. Impulsively he thrust the flowers into the girl's lap. "I can see you love them," he explained, "and I think my wife would like you to have them. I'll tell her I gave them to you."

The girl gratefully accepted the flowers, then watched the old man get off the bus and walk slowly through the gate of a village cemetery.

Urging the need for greater co-operation between competitors in the book business, a publisher told a convention about the little boy alone in a yard who was asked by a neighbor, "Where's your twin brother?"

"He's inside," said the boy, "playing a duet on the piano. I finished first."

Can't Tell TB by Looking

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Glance into the mirror for a moment. Then ask yourself this question: Does that handsome person standing before me have tuberculosis?

Then try to answer. Look at the reflection of your face, look at your eyes, your lips. If you are honest with yourself, you will answer: "I don't know; how can I tell?"

This is exactly the point I'm trying to make—you can't tell from a person's looks whether he has tuberculosis. Oh, there are signs and symptoms, of course.

First of these to appear usually are a cough that you just can't get rid of, a slight fever, loss of weight or a feeling that you are tired all the time.

But these symptoms may not appear until months after the tuberculosis germs first infect your body.

In the beginning, when tuberculosis is most easily cured, there may be no outward sign of infection at all.

Let's get one more thing straight before we go any further. We've got tuberculosis on the run, but it's not liked yet. Unless everyone protects himself and his family, tuberculosis will always present a danger to all of mankind.

Right now about 500,000 persons have the disease. And many of them don't know it! It is these persons who face the most danger.

Don't take any chances. Make sure everyone in your family gets an annual chest X-ray. In addition, your doctor may recommend a skin patch test which will disclose whether you have a tuberculosis condition.

If tuberculosis is indicated, your doctor can obtain proof by making certain laboratory tests. Only if he gives you a clean bill of health can you be positive that you do not have tuberculosis.

Even if you have tuberculosis, it doesn't necessarily mean that you will have to spend long months in a sanitarium. Some infections are discovered so early that no hospital care is needed.

Careful and wholesome living habits along with periodic medical check-ups may be all that is needed.

So give that face in the mirror some good advice. Tell him to have a chest X-ray tomorrow.

Question and Answer

S. F. G.: I had my baby's head X-rayed for mental deficiency and the test was negative. Could the child still have mental deficiency?

Answer: Yes. Most cases of mental deficiency in a child are very difficult to diagnose. It is only rarely that a defect in the brain or brain mechanism may be detected on X-ray.

Joan Caulfield Winner Again

Actress Gets Second Top Television Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What does Joan Caulfield have in common with Robert Cummings, Eve Arden, Richard Boone, Wally Cox and Gale Storm?

If you were up on your TV history, you'd know that all six have starred in two television series. Joan is the latest member of the two-time winners' club. Once the delight of "My Favorite Husband," she is now appearing on NBC Sunday nights in "Sally."

Provided her show isn't shot down by the sharp-shooting "Maverick" on ABC, Joan should find success with "Sally." Judging from last week's program, it appears to be one of the brighter spots in an otherwise dismal season. It had crisp writing, bright direction and sharp acting by Joan, Marion Lorne (the wonderful Mrs. Gurney of the late "Mister Peepers" show) and other accomplished actors.

"If people don't like our show, they just don't have taste," Joan says militantly. "I'm a tough audience. I've done some shows that make me cringe. But some of the 'Sally' shows have made me real proud."

"Sally" is a family affair. Producing the show is Frank Ross, Joan's husband.

All of U.S. Vulnerable To Attack Now, Belief

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) believes that for the first time every square foot of the United States is under the threat of direct attack.

He said the success of the Russian satellite whirling around the globe "means for sure that Russia can launch a 1,500-mile missile with a 4,000 pound warhead against any target in the world."

Symington said that Sputnik cannot be laughed off because the Russians "are already from two to three years ahead of us in this all-important field."

New President of FFA To Delay Education

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Future Farmers of America have taken Howard Downing off the farm and out of the University of Kentucky and put him on the road.

The 20-year-old farmer-college student from Nicholasville, Ky., was elected president of the national farm-youth organization at the close of its 30th annual convention here this week.

The new job calls for a lot of travel so Howard said he will withdraw from the university at the end of the semester. He plans to go back a year later and finish his course in agriculture.

Homelick Refugee Lacks Fear of Reds

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A homesick refugee who returned to Hungary from the United States said Friday she doesn't believe Hungarian police will do anything to her for escaping originally.

Mrs. Theresa Peteranecz, 21, left for Budapest by train with her 18-month-old son after leaving her home and husband in Dayton, Ohio, and flying here. The family had escaped to the West after last fall's uprising.

Autopsy Verifies Belief Ohioan Beaten To Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Milton Helsen, chief city medical examiner, says an autopsy he performed confirmed a previous finding that Shibley Talamas, an American business man, died of a beating in a jail in Haiti last month.

Helsen said Thursday his findings agreed with those reportedly made by Dr. Verne Chaney of the Albert Schweitzer Hospital in Port-Au-Prince, Haiti.

The indication was that the 30-year-old merchant died from a beating.

Officials in Haiti have contended that Talamas died of a heart attack while fighting policemen who took him into custody for questioning Sept. 29.

Helsen said his autopsy was made at the request of the Talamas family and with approval of the State Department.

"The body," Helsen said, "did have certain marks of injury." He added that he preferred not to describe the injuries "because the State Department asked me specifically not to."

The U. S. government lodged a sharp protest with Haiti's provisional government over Talamas' death while in police custody.

Talamas' widow, Mrs. Frances Walpula Talamas, 27, left New York Thursday for the parents' home in Ashtabula, Ohio, where her husband will be buried.

Talamas, a Haitian-born U. S. citizen died during the uneasy days following the voting of Sept. 22 for a president and legislature to take over from a military junta.

He went to the U. S. embassy and requested protection from the police "and others." Embassy personnel talked with the police and were told that Talamas was merely wanted for questioning. He was turned over to Haitian police on assurance he would not be mistreated. He died a few hours later.

A baby was born to Mrs. Talamas the day her husband died. She arrived here by plane last Sunday.

Chocolate Covered Ants Yet!

TOKYO (AP)—Chocolate-coated ants may be catching on as a delicacy in the United States, but there's no market for them in Japan.

The "ant king" of Japan admits it.

He's Taichi Ishikawa, head of the Alps Provision Co., ant exporters.

The chocolate-coated insects are appearing in U. S. stores that stock such articles as rattlesnake meat and roasted bumblebees.

Ishikawa says he thought it was pretty silly when he got the first inquiry about chocolate ants; up to then his market was largely in plain fried ants.

Ishikawa mastered his first suspicions and started experimenting.

"We've managed to make them taste good," he says. "Americans like them."

The processing is done in Ishikawa's jam factory. The ants are fried first, then coated.

The ants come from highlands around Nagano where they have plagued residents for years.

14 Military Posts Due To See Manpower Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker says the armed strength at 14 military posts will be reduced by 48,000 by mid-1958 in order to cut back to a personnel ceiling fixed for that date.

Brucker said no major post would be inactivated during fiscal year 1958, ending next June 30. He said the reductions will be accomplished largely by cutting down on the number of trainees, plus transfers.

Wildcat Strike Hits New Boston Plant

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Officials of Detroit Steel Corp.'s Portsmouth Division say a wildcat strike has erupted at the company's hot strip mill at nearby New Boston, idling 70 workers.

They said a steward of Local 2116, United Steelworkers of America, ordered the men to walk out following a pay dispute.

Finland's Minority Government Defeated

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The minority government of Premier Vieno J. Sukselainen, in office since May, was ousted Friday on a vote of nonconfidence.

The Cabinet fell on a Communist motion of censure charging the government with responsibility for economic difficulties.

The government devalued the currency almost 40 per cent on Sept. 15 in a desperate effort to recapture Western export trade and combat inflation.

NOVELTY BRIDAL COUPLE — One of the exhibits that proved most interesting to young and old alike in the Fancy Work Department was the wedding party of dolls in crocheted clothes. It was entered in the novelty class. The workmanship was beautiful in each detail. The exhibit had been entered by Mrs. Charles Garrett.

Fancy Work Department Is Great Drawing Card

Always Favorite With Visitors

Pumpkin Show visitors are making a bee line for the fancy work department again this year! The well staged show with its 325 entries is housed as usual in the armory on E. Franklin St.

Mrs. Edward Stephens, long time fancy work department head has displayed the exhibits to the best of advantage. The afghans, quilts and coverlets are on racks against the wall. And according to Mrs. James Koch, Newark, veteran judge, she has never seen a finer collection of old coverlets (there's one that was made in 1820) and fine quilts.

The judge also commented on the fine number of exhibits in almost every class. "An outstanding fancy work show," she said, "and I mean it with all sincerity. It was difficult to judge because of the many fine exhibits—but it was also a pleasure to see so much fine needle work."

Mrs. Merle Pressler won first on the old quilts. Mrs. Clarence Jones was awarded a blue ribbon for the best quilted new quilt and Mrs. Nellie Freese took first prize on the best appliqued new quilt.

Mrs. Davis Addresses District Conference

Mrs. Poling Conducts Workshop

A number of local clubwomen were on hand Thursday for the Southeast District Conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs held in the First Methodist Church in Logan.

Highlight of the conference was the address by Mrs. Ray W. Davis, of Circleville, president of Ohio Federation. Mrs. Davis used as her topic "Workman That Needeth Not To Be Ashamed". Mrs. Davis stressed that women's Clubs have no reasons for existing. "Adult education and community service".

In commenting on adult education she pointed out that through television we have at our disposal some of the very best speakers available, but that "we can't discuss problems with our television sets" adding that in a woman's club, discussion forums, symposiums, panels and other types of discussion could bring out the free exchange of ideas and result in the solution of problems.

Of community service Mrs. Davis urged her listeners to give of themselves not just their money, particularly in the field of service to youth.

She also urged clubs not to go on year after year supporting the same community service projects without stopping to analyze community needs to be sure that the project they are supporting is most important to the community and not one which is adequately supported by other groups.

Mrs. John C. Furgason of New Lexington, Southeast District president presided at the day's sessions and Mrs. Dwight Davis of Kingston District Director of Juniors presided at a short junior session and introduced Mrs. O. W. Davis of Nelsonville, state director of juniors who reported to the conference.

Mrs. Sterling Poling of Circleville, Chairman of Public Relations for OFWC conducted a workshop during the conference.

Local Club's represented at the conference were Ashville Civic Club, Monday Club, Circleville Junior Woman's Club, Saltcreek Town and Country Club and Kingston Civic Club.

Indiana To Stay In Big Ten Loop

COLUMBUS (AP)—Indiana University has no intention of dropping out of the Big Ten, its athletic director says.

The director, Frank Allen, said
Friday, "Our relationship with the Big Ten is marvelous. We at Indiana are in favor of the conference and agree with the things that they are trying to do."

Allen's comments followed the one-year suspension handed Indiana earlier this week by the NCAA for alleged illegal recruiting.

Browns, Colts Seek To Keep Win Streak

Opponents To Be Same
As Beaten Earlier
In Pro Grid Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Power-laden Baltimore and defense-minded Cleveland will try to stretch their unbeaten streaks to four Sunday against opponents they handled with quick dispatch the first time around.
The Colts leading the National Football League's Western Division, meet the second-place Detroit Lions (2-1) before an expected 54,000 in Detroit's Briggs Stadium. Baltimore crushed Detroit 34-14 in the season's opener.
The Eastern Division leading Browns, who defeated Philadelphia 24-7 last Sunday, face the cellar-dwelling Eagles (0-3) on the road.
In other games defending champion New York, currently runner-up to Cleveland in the East, opens its home season against Pittsburgh, San Francisco meets Green Bay at Milwaukee, Los Angeles and the Bears battle in Chicago, and Chicago's Cardinals are at Washington.

Baltimore, which has amassed 100 points in its three games, will throw a two-pronged attack at the improving Lions. Led by quarterback Johnny Unitas, who has thrown for eight touchdowns, the Colts also boast a sharp running attack spearheaded by Alan Ameche.

Detroit secondary has been responsible for 14 interceptions this season and will have to stop Unitas, who passed for 241 yards and four TD's in their first meeting.
Tommy O'Connell, the league's second best passer, and All-American Jimmy Brown have returned the Browns to their accustomed position at the top. Offensively weak Philadelphia is still strapped by the injury to quarterback Bobby Thomason. Sonny Jurgensen and Al Dorow will run the team.

The Giants (2-1) are without the services of quarter Don Heinrich, sidelined with a broken thumb, but regained ace field goal kicker Ben Agajanian, who has been bedded with the flu.
Green Bay (1-2) suffered a severe blow this week when first-stringer and Gary Knafele was declared out for the season with a knee injury. Along with Bill Howton they had formed one of the best pass-catching combinations in the league. The Packers will have to rig their defenses to stop the passing of Y. A. Tittle and the running of Hugh McElhenny who have led Frisco to a 2-1 mark.

The Bears have lost three in a row after being picked to retain their Western Division title, but Los Angeles (1-2) will have to stop the charges of Rick Casares as well as the passing combo of Ed Brown and Harlon Hill. The Rams have the league's leading ground gainer in Tom Wilson, who never played college ball.
The Browns won 24-7 over the Eagles last Sunday and are seven-point favorites to repeat this weekend. But Coach Paul Brown says it's always hard to beat a team the second time, and that when the games come only a week apart it's even tougher.

Commissioner Bert Bell is expected to be on hand to see personally whether his edict against any repetition of last week's slugging is obeyed. Fan reaction to that game and the realization that heavy fines are likely to fall on any new offenders should tend to keep this game clean.

The Browns didn't have to show very much on the offense to win last Sunday. A long pass followed by a short one, Chet Hanulak's 64-yard spring, and a Lou Groza field goal had Cleveland in front 17-0 at the half. The Browns coasted the rest of the way. There are plenty

Los Angeles Plans Welcome for Bums

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Norris Poulson says a civic luncheon will be held Oct. 28 to welcome "President" Walter O'Malley and the Los Angeles Dodgers to this city.

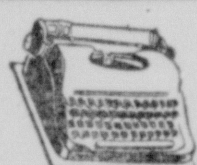

The affair will mark the first public appearance here by O'Malley since the announcement that the Dodgers are moving from Brooklyn to Los Angeles.

Pumpkin Show Has Variety, Thrills, Laughter, Life

CITY SLICKER AND COUNTRY COUSIN — Tommy Eitel and Timmy Burns were the characters on the best decorated small float.

PRETTIEST BABY GIRL — Robin Sue Large looks quizzically at the judges as they chose her for the prettiest baby girl under one.

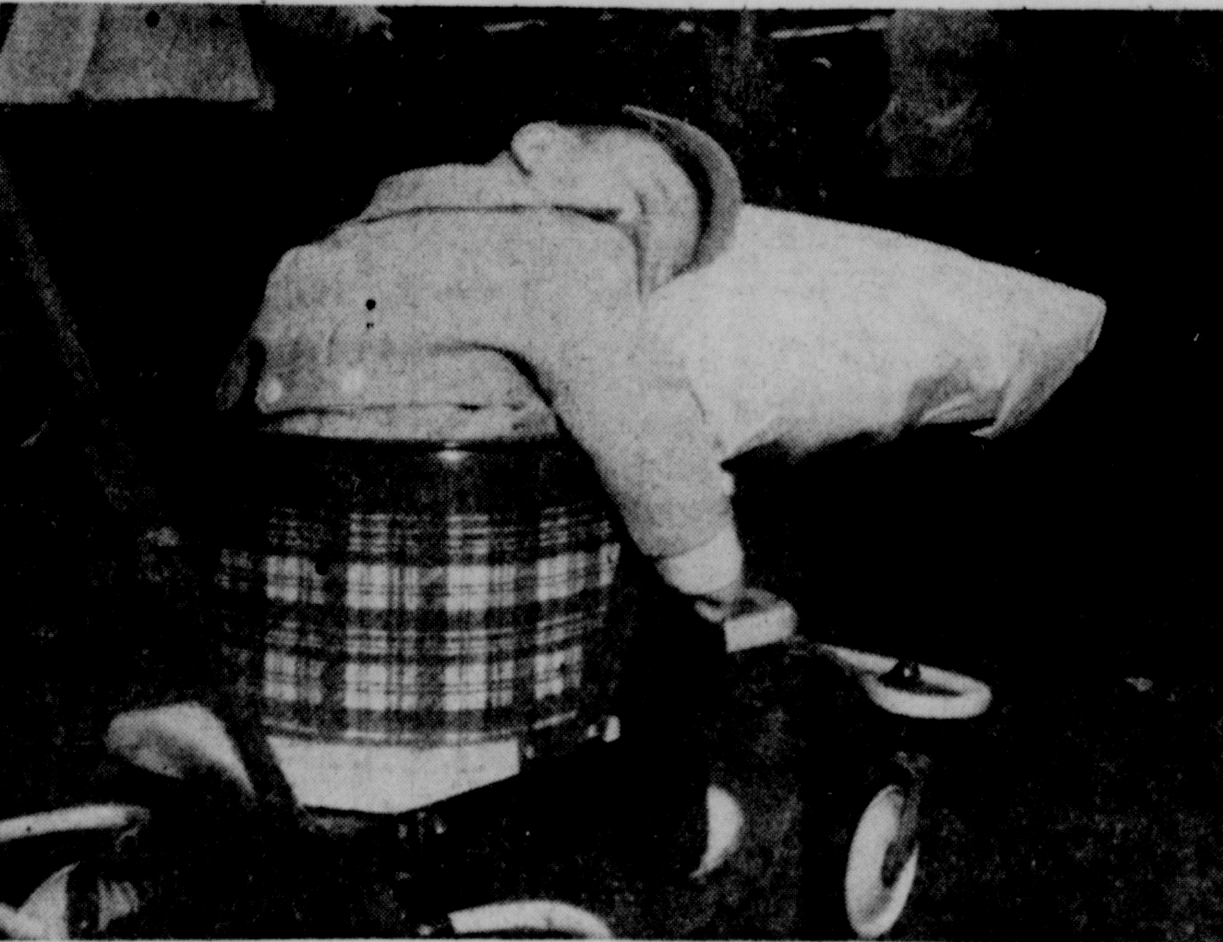

AUTHENTIC MEXICAN — Craig Rice won the prize for best costume with this Mexican outfit — straight from Mexico.

GOOD GOURD! WHAT AN ARRANGEMENT — Painted like penguins, this gourd arrangement by Mrs. Donald Watt won a blue ribbon.

APPLE A DAY — Miss Pumpkin Show attendant Joy Trone prettily takes a bite from a caramel apple — a beautiful sight to see.

TIRED LITTLE CONTESTANT — This baby's smart mother came prepared. While she trudged around the slow-moving parade route, she provided a soft pillow for her youngster and the baby liked it, obviously.

LONG AND SHORT — Miss Pumpkin Show, tall and stately, smiles and Little Miss Pumpkin Show attendant Holly Jean Bach gazes skyward at an unusually long ball bat gourd.

READY TO GO — This young gentleman, decked out in a cap, looks ready to go as he stands in his stroller during the Baby Parade.

FLYING YOUNG MAN — Gerald Soules is shown here catching himself by his heels after a forward somersault during the free act last night. He works from a trapeze suspended about 25 feet in the air.
